

the speech content of that time window, and which will form the input to our learning algorithms.

Since we wish to implementation was found to be too slow. Java code is used to execute the Segmental K-Means Learning algorithm, since an implementation of this algorithm was

